

FROM...Center for Creative Land Recycling

LINK: info@cclr.org

CT.org has recently discovered that there are many benefits accruing to properties in a designated “brownfield” area, especially for those properties not actually contaminated. Abeyance of fees is a big one along with eligibility for grants and regulatory relief. Check it out.

Resources for Revitalization

Creating equitable, vibrant communities through redevelopment.

National Brownfields Training Conference

Oklahoma City Aug 16-19

The National Brownfields Conference is the largest event in the nation focused on environmental revitalization and economic redevelopment. With unprecedented financial and technical resources available, the National Brownfields Conference will provide information on how to access these grants to maximize your economic, environmental and social performance. It is an excellent opportunity to meet CCLR and the other TABs, build capacity, and receive resources to accelerate your redevelopment projects.

Register